

Save All Comments to a Separate Document
WordPerfect Magazine
By Carla F. Black

You have a document with 37 comments, and your boss wants to review them in a separate document. Yikes! The included COMLIST.WPM macro takes care of this process.

To use the macro, retrieve a document containing comments, press Macro (Alt-F10), type "comlist" and press (Enter). When the macro has finished executing, press Switch (Shift-F3) to see the comment list on the Doc 2 screen. You can either save or print this new document ... or both.

Note: The macro removes all comments from a document. If you want the comments copied instead, change the number in line 4 of the macro from 11 to 12. To do this, press (Ctrl-F10), type "comlist" and press 2 to edit the macro. Make the change to line 4, then press F7 to save the macro.
